Why Should Opt Career in Health, Safety and Environment (HSE)

The legislation for labour welfare, known as the Factories Act, 1948, was enacted with the prime objective of protecting workmen employed in factories against industrial and occupational hazards. ...The Act provides for the health, safety, welfare and other aspects of OHS for workers in factories but According to the ILO estimates that some 2.3 million women and men around the world succumb to work-related accidents or diseases every year; this corresponds to over 6000 deaths every single day. Worldwide, there are around 340 million occupational accidents and 160 million victims of work-related illnesses annually which is now a great concern.

For this again Govt. Amended safety policy and guidelines and ensuring strictly implementation to capitulate the high accidents and motility rate which becomes compulsory for each and every industrial establishment to recruit Safety professional and this initiative made the safety management a booming and bright career option ahead for the safety professional not only in India but abroad as well. Considering its role and responsibilities and their work profile by means of saving human life means serving the nation, and for this 'No Doubt' getting lucrative and handsome CTC package to run their livelihood sumptuously.
